

BSRLM Early Years and Primary Mathematics (EYPM) Working Group
Minutes of the Fourth Meeting

Venue: King's College London

Date: Saturday 10th November 2018

Time: 14:25-15:15

Chair: Sue Gifford and Natthapoj Vincent Trakulphadetkrai

Scriber: Natthapoj Vincent Trakulphadetkrai

In attendance:

Alison Curwen (Year 3 Teacher); Alison Parish (Independent); Ann Dowker (University of Oxford); Anne Mulligan (Middlesex University); Gwen Ineson (Brunel University London); Judy Sayers (University of Leeds); Natthapoj Vincent Trakulphadetkrai (University of Reading); Rebecca Hanson (Independent); Sheldon Phillips (UCL Institute of Education, EdD student); Sue Gifford (University of Roehampton)

At this meeting, the focus was on building up lists of outlets suitable for EYPM research dissemination. These outlets include both academic ones and those more accessible to practitioners. As a group, it seems we are well aware of relevant traditional peer-reviewed research journals and professional journals, but are less aware of outlets that are arguably more accessible to teachers e.g. blogs and magazines. Perhaps this could be an area for development for our Working Group.

Traditional peer-reviewed research journals

- British Educational Research Journal
- British Journal of Educational Psychology
- British Journal of Developmental Psychology

Sue also briefly highlighted issues with the proposed revisions to the Early Learning Goals, including the omission of Shape space and measures, and suggested that our EYPM Working Group could provide expertise to address those issues. We propose to continue to explore these issues and the research basis of the pilot Goals at our next meeting.
