BSRLM Outreach Coordinator AGM Report 2022

The role of BSRLM Outreach Coordinator

I started my role in January 2022 after Colin Foster. The role has been slightly changed since January 2022. By being an outreach coordinator, I continue collaborating with BERA coordinators, meanwhile, I am actively attracting maths cognition researchers to join BSRLM to expand its scope.

The BSRLM new researcher award

To encourage new researchers conducting excellent maths education research, BSRLM has set up the new researcher award led by me. Fay Baldry and I created the selecting criteria and reviewed qualified submissions. The first awardee – Elizabeth Kimber (Open University) - was announced in August. We will continue this scheme for the next year.

The BCME 10 meeting

The BCME 10 preparation meeting was organised in July to discuss how to organise the BCME 10 next year. The committee would like to involve BSRLM in this meeting and the preparation report has been submitted to the JMC for consideration

The BERA collaborations

BSRLM will continue collaborating with BERA SIG Mathematics Education (Gwen and Gill) on Practitioner Researcher in Mathematics Education (PRiME). The event will be online in next year and the organisation is in progress.

During the Nov 2022 BSRLM conference, BERA and I will organise a workshop to promote the PRiME event and BERA conferences on maths education.

BSRLM and CEML (Centre for Early Mathematics Learning) collaboration

BSRLM and CEML hosted by Loughborough University will organise its first joint conference in Nov 2023. This event will be at Loughborough London campus talking about early-year mathematics learning with early-year practitioners.
